DETAILED ACTION

Requirement to comply with sequence rules

This application contains sequence disclosures that are encompassed by the definitions for nucleotide and/or amino acid sequences set forth in 37 C.F.R. § 1.821(a)(1) and (a)(2). However, this application fails to comply with the requirements of 37 C.F.R. §§ 1.821-1.825 for the reason(s) set forth on the attached Notice To Comply With Requirements For Patent Applications Containing Nucleotide Sequence And/Or Amino Acid Sequence Disclosures. Specifically, pages 15-16 of the specification disclose several sequences that lack sequence identifiers. Applicants are further advised that 37 CFR 1.821(d) requires that reference to a nucleotide sequence in a claim must be made by use of a sequence identifier. Therefore, claim 31, which claims these particular sequences by a name (e.g., "DRIL32"), must be amended to contain sequence identifiers.

To be considered fully responsive, any reply to this action must correct these deficiencies, as this requirement will not be held in abeyance.

Election/Restrictions

Restriction is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 and 372.

This application contains the following inventions or groups of inventions which are not so linked as to form a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1.

Art Unit: 1635

In accordance with 37 CFR 1.499, applicant is required, in reply to this action, to elect a single invention to which the claims must be restricted.

Group 1, claim(s) 16-31, drawn to a nucleic acid molecule that is a substrate for binding by at least a Ku protein involved in the NHEJ pathway. Election of this invention requires a further election of a single nucleotide sequence from those recited in claim 31 for the reasons set forth below.

Group 2, claim(s) 32-38, drawn to a method of treating cancer by administering a compound according to claim 16.

The inventions listed as Groups 1 and 2 do not relate to a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1 because, under PCT Rule 13.2, they lack the same or corresponding special technical features for the following reasons: the special technical feature of the claimed inventions, nucleic acids of at least 16 basepairs that bind to a Ku protein involved in the NHEJ pathway, does not make a contribution over the prior art. See, for example Li et al., who disclose that unintegrated viral cDNA is a substrate for the host cell non-homologous DNA end joining (NHEJ) pathway and that the NHEJ proteins Ku70 and Ku80 were found to be bound to purified retroviral replication intermediates.

Restriction to a single nucleotide sequence

According to the guidelines in Section (f)(i)(a) of Annex B of the PCT Administrative Instructions, the special technical feature as defined by PCT Rule 13.2 shall be considered to be met when all the alternatives of a Markush-group are of similar nature. For chemical alternatives, such as the claimed polynucleotide sequences in claim 31, the Markush group shall be regarded as being of similar nature when:

(A) all alternatives have a common property or activity and

(B)(1) a common structure is present, i.e., a significant structure is shared by all of the alternatives or

(B)(2) in cases where the common structure cannot be the unifying criteria, all alternatives belong to an art recognized class of compounds in the art to which the invention pertains.

The instant nucleotide sequences are considered to be each separate inventions for the following reasons:

The sequences do not meet the criteria of (A), common property or activity or (B)(2), art recognized class of compounds. Although the sequences of the instant application all target the NHEJ pathway, each sequence behaves in a different way in the context of the claimed invention. Each member of the class cannot be substituted; one for the other, with the expectation that the same intended result would be achieved.

Further, although the instant sequences bind the same proteins, the sequences do not meet the criteria of (B)(1), as they do not share, one with another, a common core structure. Accordingly, unity of invention between the sequences of the instant application is lacking and each sequence claimed is considered to constitute a special technical feature.

Applicant must elect a single sequence from those listed in claim 31 for examination.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include (i) an election of a species or invention to be examined even though the requirement may be traversed (37 CFR 1.143) and (ii) identification of the claims encompassing the elected invention.

The election of an invention or species may be made with or without traverse. To preserve a right to petition, the election must be made with traverse. If the reply does not distinctly and specifically point out supposed errors in the restriction requirement, the election shall be treated as an election without traverse.

Applicant is reminded that upon the cancellation of claims to a non-elected invention, the inventorship must be amended in compliance with 37 CFR 1.48(b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor of at least one claim remaining in the application. Any amendment of inventorship must be accompanied by a request under 37 CFR 1.48(b) and by the fee required under 37 CFR 1.17(i).
